Malone Vies for National Cheerleader of the Year

Congratulations to Senior Cheerleader Stephanie Malone who recently learned she is a finalist for the title of National Cheerleader of the Year.

Steph was nominated by her coach, Ami Corell, who submitted her high school transcript, resume of cheerleading career, and a video of Stephanie to a selection committee comprised of leaders in the cheerleading and spirit industry from all over the country. The selection committee then narrowed the field to 50 semi-finalists.

As a semi-finalist, the nominee must submit a portfolio made-up of: 1) letters of reference from the coach, a school administrator, and a community member/business leader, 2) personal resume, 3) written statement of why she should be considered for the award, 4) an essay on a topic provided by the selection committee, 5) a DVD interview of the nominee using questions provided by the selection committee, 6) a DVD of required cheer skills, 7) additional pages of pictures, scrapbooks, awards or anything else the nominee wants to include. The nominees must then complete a phone interview with one of the members of the selection committee before the finalists are chosen. Based on Stephanie's portfolio and her interview, she was chosen as one of the ten finalists!

When she competes for the title, her score from all of the preliminary phases is used as 25% of her overall score, then she will complete two different panel interviews that each

A Message from the BOE

What Does the School Board Do, Anyway?

by BOE President Jim Zimar

Years ago, a newly elected board member was approached by a parent who was upset because the school board had not ordered new socks for the soccer team. The green trustee listened quietly—unsure of what to say—until the parent finished and left.

What should the board member have done? Could the board member have ordered the socks? Should the board have ordered the socks? What does the school board do, anyway?

The school board has three main jobs:

- 1) Pay the district's share of the cost of educating our children with the revenue from real property tax.
- 2) Hire the superintendent and evaluate the superintendent's performance. The superintendent reports to the board. Everyone else who works for our district reports (directly or indirectly) to the superintendent.
- 3) Decide school district policy. Policy is a set of written guidelines saying what the district will and will not do or allow. Much of this policy is written to comply with state and federal laws and regulations.

Also, the school board has authority only when acting as a unit. Individual board members do not have the authority to act alone. The new board member had no authority to order socks for the soccer team, and it was not the board's job to order the socks, either.

What should a board member do in such a situation? A board member should certainly listen. A board member should use the opportunity to teach about the role of the board and the roles of other people in the district. A board member should ask the parent to seek a solution near the problem. In this case, the student and the parent should talk with the coach first. If they don't reach an understanding, the athletic director should be brought into the discussion. The next step involves the building principal. The superintendent is next, and then the school board. A genuine attempt must be made close to the situation first and at each successive step. Going straight to the top should lead to starting at the beginning. A board member should also inform the superintendent so that the superintendent can follow the

News from Hammondspport Central School District Superintendent Kyle Bower

One of the favorite parts of my day is having lunch in the cafeteria with the students. As a teacher I usually ate with my students, just to share some conversation that wasn't related to grades and academics. I wanted to know them as young people. I continued to value that time as a principal and I continue to do it as much as possible in this new role. Today I had the pleasure of eating with two 3rd grade students. I usually try to engage the kids in conversation about what's going on with them, what they've learned that day, or any conversation they want to have. As we all know, the art of dinner time conversation is getting lost. One word answers such as fine, good, and nothing always seem to dominate the conversation, never at these lunch conversations however.

I have known both of these 3rd grade students for many years. We've had many conversations before. Today one of them couldn't stop talking about his grades and what he's learning. In math it's all about division. The teacher is using a computer to write on and what she writes goes right up on the screen. I asked him if he thought the computer tablet helped him. He says it's easier for him to read and it helps him understand because he can see it on the board and in his mind. He really enjoys math now and his grade is in the 90's.

He's also very proud of his reading grade. We talked about how hard reading was for him last year, he easily got upset and he really struggled. Now his grade was in the 80's and he's remembering the things he reads about. I ask him what he thinks the difference is between last year and this year. He answers quickly, "This year I listen." I thought about his answer briefly and then said to him, things always work out better when you listen. I gave him a high five and we both tucked our napkins in our milk carton and took our trays up. Rules are rules.

Listening is hard. Of all the academic skills that we teach in our classrooms, this is a life skill that is perhaps the most difficult of all. Listening isn't hearing. We usually hear what is being said to us, but many times we don't listen. Over the next month I'm going to make a conscious effort to do more listening. I challenge you to have a conversation at the dinner table between Little League and homework. Turn off the radio in the car. Take a walk together with no IPODS or Playstation. Talk with your child, a student, a coworker, or a friend and don't just hear what they say, but really listen. Things always work out better that way.

progress of the solution.

The coach would still have the authority to decide what to do about the socks and the responsibility to take care of the situation.

The board would still have the authority to ask the superintendent to make sure that the issue is dealt with and the responsibility to avoid stepping on the toes in anyone else's socks along the way.

Laker Lines is the official newsletter of the Hammondspport Central School District. It is distributed to all district residents. HCS Board of Education members include: James Zimar, President; Frank Curran, Vice President; Richard Drain, Nancy Torp and Christine Kolo.

The Board meets the third Wednesday of each month in the Library of the Main Street School.

From the Desk of HS Principal Tad Rounds

Congratulations to the nine new members of the Hammondspport Chapter of the National Honor Society. These students were selected based upon their commitment of scholarship, service, character, and leadership. Also, thank-you to Mrs. Demmin and Ms. Trickey for organizing the ceremony and to the PTO (Parent Teacher Organization) for hosting the reception following the ceremony.

Final exams and Regents exams are right around the corner and students should start preparing now. School Island and www.Regentsprep.org are great web based review sites. The last day of school for seventh and eighth grade students will be June 15. Final exams and Regents exams are scheduled for June 16 through June 24. A letter will go home in early June with end-of-year schedules and events. With the warm weather here to stay, parents are asked to ensure that the dress code is adhered to as stated in the code of conduct.

May and June has several concerts and award assemblies scheduled. Please refer to the district calendar and web site (www.hammondspportcsd.org) for upcoming events. We are also honored to have members of the 1946 Sectional Championship baseball team presenting their game ball to the district at our Sport Awards on June 4. Please call or email me with any questions or concerns.

Notes from the Elementary Principal's Office

The springtime ushers in the final ten weeks of school with a renewed focus as teachers, students and parents remind themselves that the school year is not yet complete. Even though the last of the state tests (4th grade science) were administered April 28 and 29 classroom instruction continues to focus on learning and meeting grade level expectations. Given the demands of in and out of school activities, longer daylight hours, and the rigors of instruction, it is imperative that the school community and parents recognize the importance of helping children set priorities and budget their time appropriately. To help with this please take note of the May events already scheduled:

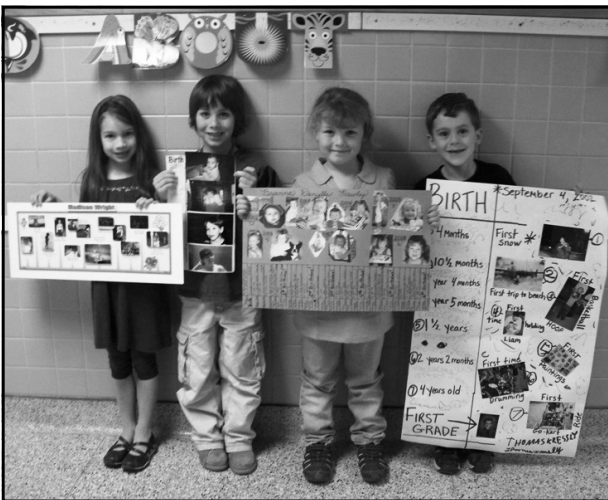

In addition, parents are reminded to check their child's take home folders and student agendas daily for important messages, updates and announcements regarding end of the year activities and additions to the calendar.

Attention Parents of Elementary Students

Parents may no longer request teachers for their students for the 2009-2010 school year as our K-6 classrooms will be down to two sections. This is consistent with the policy outlined in the Elementary Handbook.

The Best of Times

Mrs. Binkowski's and Mrs. Sanford's first grade classes have been busy creating timelines that document important events in their lives. The students completed a reading unit that got them thinking about treasures that we share and special times we share with our families. Each student created a thoughtful memoir that included at least 4 important life events. Many of the students included special times such as first birthdays, first hair cuts, and the arrival of new siblings!

count as 25% of her overall score, followed by an individual performance done at the National Cheerleading Coaches conference in front of delegates from all over the country and world for the final 25% of her total score. The winner gets $4500/year college scholarship payable to their secondary institution, is featured on the cover of American Cheerleader Magazine, serves as the spokesperson for Cheer Ltd. for the following year, and attends numerous national cheerleading events as an ambassador for the sport itself and Cheer, Ltd. who sponsors the NCOTY award.

Stephanie is planning on attending Duquesne University next fall where she will cheer for the Division I Dukes Sports Teams while majoring in forensic accounting. Congratulations Steph and good luck in your pursuit of National Cheerleader of the Year!

IN OTHER CHEERLEADING NEWS...

Hammondsport Senior Elizabeth Reardon made HCS proud by being chosen as one of the top 16 cheerleaders in Section V. She cheered on a team made up of the best from all over our section at the McDonald's All-Star games in Rochester on March 28. The McDonald's games serve as a fundraiser for the Ronald McDonald Houses of Greater Rochester, and raise close to $10,000 annually with help from Section V Girls' and Boys' Basketball players and cheerleaders. As part of the team, Liz attended a press conference for the athletes at 'the house', as well as a banquet in their honor at the RIT Inn & Conference Center. Section V Cheerleading Co-Chair Pam Palmer was able to present the director of the Rochester Houses a check for $4100 at the banquet, raised for them by the cheerleaders

FBLA Members Travel to State Leadership Conference

Katie Adams and Amanda Peterson of Hammondsport Central School's Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) Club traveled to the Rochester Convention Center in Rochester, New York to attend the 44th annual FBLA State Leadership Conference April 22 - 24. Both competed in various business competitions including Business Law, Marketing, Chapter Business Display and Business Ownership and Marketing. Students also participated as voting delegates in the election of new state officers. Katie Adams took fifth place honors in the Business Law competition. In addition to the competitions, students attended district and state meetings. The FBLA club would like to thank the community for your support in their fund raising efforts that made the trip possible.

PTO to Sponsor Book Fair, Formal Closet

The Hammondsport PTO will be sponsoring a Book Fair for grades 7-12 from May 26-29 during school hours, and on the evening of June 2 during the Russ Cutshall dinner. Be sure to check out some of the new books available to buy for your summertime reading! Proceeds help the PTO support High School programming and can also be used to acquire free books for the school.

The PTO sponsored "Formal Closet" will once again be open in preparation for the Prom. If you have any formal wear to donate to our lending closet, please drop it off at the High School Office. We are especially in need of men's neckties, dress shirts and shoes. If you are going to the prom, check out the "Formal Closet" selections to borrow so you can save some money for something else you may need or want.

Spanish Club Raises $ for Puerto Rico Trip

The HCS Spanish Club has been busy preparing for their upcoming cultural immersion trip to Puerto Rico scheduled for July 6-10. While visiting Puerto Rico, the students will study the history of San Juan and Ponce. They will also visit traditional villages and sample authentic Puerto Rican foods. The island is full of interesting activities and sites, such as El Yunque Rainforest and the bioluminescent lagoons. The students have been busy earning money through bake sales, carwashes and concession sales in order to pay for their trip. Each student must earn over $1,000 to cover the cost of transportation and scheduled cultural activities. In order to meet their goal, future fundraising activities include a Mother's Day breakfast at the Hammondsport Firehouse on May 10 from 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. There will also be a bake sale and iPod raffle held during the American Legion Fish Fry on May 15 at the Legion. Please come out and support the club activities!

District Updates

Curtiss Building

The District is still working to find agencies that may want to lease space in the Curtiss building beginning July 1, 2010. A promotional brochure is being produced that will be sent out to area colleges, government agencies, community groups, and BOCES that will showcase the building and all it has to offer. We will be working over the next year to continue to find tenants for the Curtiss building that will bring in revenue to offset the expense of operating the building. The classroom spaces are no longer needed due to our current enrollment of 560 students and that was the basis of the Board of Education's decision last year to move to one campus in 2009-2010.

EXCEL Project

Construction meetings have begun and we are on schedule to begin EXCEL project work in June. We will be starting before school is out by installing some of the card swipe door systems and video monitors. Workers will be in the Main Street Building in the evenings running wires through ceilings and handling other infrastructure work. The Curtiss Building will be closed to the public and all outside events beginning July 1. Asbestos abatement will begin at that time. We hope to have all work complete so teachers can begin preparing their classrooms in mid-August. Plans are being finalized to provide a covered entry into the Elementary Wing of the Main Street Campus. This will tie into the sidewalk replacement project and will provide a safer entry/exit point for students, staff and visitors. The EXCEL money from the State is targeted aid that must be used for very specific improvements such as these. All of these components are part of the EXCEL building project approved by the voters in 2007. There is no tax levy impact as a result of the EXCEL work to be done this summer.

Shared Services

On April 24, the District and the Village of Hammondspport collaborated to plant three trees in the area once occupied by the old bus garage. The District purchased one of the trees and received one from the Village Beautification Committee and one from Arbor Development. The tree received from Arbor Development was replanted in honor of a former student, Ryan French, whose original memorial tree was planted in the village and accidentally destroyed. Members of the Garden Club, Ms. Waterstraat's 3rd grade class, as well as Ryan's family were on hand to fill in the dirt and get the trees off to a good start.

HCS Artist of the Month

The Laker Lines is proud to present the "Artist of the Month" section in the newsletter which recognizes our resident artistic talents. Initiated by High School Art Teacher Gina Pflieger, an outstanding artist is chosen from one of her art classes each month and is featured with his/her artwork in the Laker Lines. This month, we are recognizing Senior Kate Adams for her scratchboard piece (pictured left) created in her drawing class. Below, we learn a little more about Kate and her art through an interview conducted by Mrs. Pflieger.

What is your favorite kind of artwork to create? Self portraits in oil pastels

What kind of art are you most drawn to? Monet

Tell us about this artwork – was this done for a class or on your own? What was the assignment or what were you trying to create? This was a scratchboard assignment from Drawing class. You scratch away the black to create an image using positive and negative space.

How long have you been creating art? For my whole life.

How do you see art being a part of your future? I hope to continue taking art courses in college.
